

Eddie Cappiello

Died Age 22

Xanax

I recently lost my beautiful 22 year-old son, Eddie, to a drug overdose. He was my best friend, the kind of son any mother would wish to have. Being his mother was my honor.

Eddie started to self medicate himself with Xanax about 5 years ago. He signed himself into a rehab last September, where he was diagnosed with Generalized Anxiety Disorder. When he left there they sent him home with more drugs that I think he was ever taking before. I still don't understand how they let a drug addict walk out of a rehab with drugs.

He leaves behind two beautiful children and a big grieving family.

He will be missed forever!

~ Lisa Cappiello

Remembering Lost Promise